SOCIETY NOTICES

Archaeological Society.

Mystery Plays. It is hoped that three of these will be performed in Lewes Castle during the week of 11th May as part of the Septuagenary celebrations of the Battle of Lewes. The proceeds of the week's activities are for "Freedom from Hunger" (organised by the Lewes Committee). Help is urgently required - please come along.

Digging. The site for this term has not yet been finally decided, but details will be posted in the Junior Common Room. There will probably be digging every weekend, and beginners will be especially welcome - summer time is the best season for introduction!

Christian Council

Early last term an informal meeting of students representing various Christian groups was arranged to discuss ways and means of co-operation and co-ordination between Christians of differing denominational backgrounds. It was then decided to set up the Christian Council, which first met officially on 4th February, 1964. The Council consists of the University Chaplain and a representative (normally the President) of the Christian group participating in the scheme. The following Societies are represented: Anglican, Congregational, Howard (Roman Catholic), Methodist, Student Christian Movement, Thomas Woodhouse (Baptist).

So that members of the various denominations can get to know each other the Council is organising four meetings this term, each sponsored by one or more of the Societies. These will be principally social occasions, but more details will be found in the Diary of Events.

The Council emphasises that it is not a "Super Society" or a Federation of Societies, but rather a group of Christians trying to achieve co-operation.

All members of the University are invited to all meetings organised by the Council, whether they are sympathetic or opposed.

Film Society

The Film Society will meet on Friday evenings at 7.30 p.m. in Physics 102. The programme will be as follows:

24th April:  NANCEG OF THE NORTH
1st May:  OCTOBER (Eisenstein)
8th May:  THE TRIAL OF JOAN OF ARC (Carl Dreyer)

The American Film and American Culture. This series is an experiment in co-operation between the School of English and American Studies, the Film Society and the American Society. It is predicated on the belief that no serious study of American culture is possible without serious study of one of its most important elements - the American film. Furthermore, no study of the American film can call itself serious unless it concentrates on its imaginative artists - the American director. Thus, each of the films in this series has been chosen as being one of the best available of the best American directors. The films are as follows:

Monday, 4th May:  PSYCHO (Alfred Hitchcock)
Monday, 18th May:  THE HORSE SOLDIERS (John Ford)
Friday, 22nd May:  THE RISE AND FALL OF LEGS DIAMOND (Budd Boetticher)
Friday, 29th May:  PARTY GIRL (Nicholas Ray)
Monday, 1st June:  WINCHESTER 73 (Anthony Mann)
Friday, 5th June:  LAURA (Otto Preminger)
Friday, 12th June:  LUST FOR LIFE (Vincente Minnelli)

There will also be four talks by critics particularly interested in the American film:

Monday, 27th April:  AN AMERICAN STYLE ? by Paul Mayersberg
Monday, 11th May:  HAWKS AND HITCHCOCK by Robin Wood
Monday, 25th May:  FORD AND THE WESTERN by Peter Harcourt
Monday, 8th June:  CRITICAL METHOD AND THE AMERICAN FILM by Ian Cameron (provisional meeting)

It is hoped that this series will do something to discredit the facile and ignorant contempt in which the American film is so often held. The films and talks on Mondays will be held in Physics 102 at 4.45 p.m. The films to be shown on Fridays will also be in Physics 102 at 7.30 p.m.

International Folk Dance Society

This Society meets every Tuesday evening at 7.30 p.m. on the Refectory Balcony. All are welcome to attend.

Music Society

The Music Society has two meetings arranged for this term (see also Diary of Events) as follows:

Thursday, 7th May: A Concert by the Dartington String Quartet (Colin Sauer (violin), Peter Carter (violin), Keith Lovell (viola), Michael Evans ('cello)). The programme will be as follows:

- Quartet in D Minor, Opus 42
  - Haydn
- Quartet No. 2, Opus 17
  - Bartok
- Quartet in B Flat, Opus 130
  - Beethoven

This Concert will be given in the Debating Chamber at 5.00 p.m. (Supper will be extended to 7.30 p.m.)

Thursday, 21st May: A Song Recital to be held in the Debating Chamber at 7.30 p.m. Further details will be announced later.

Details of reduced tickets for Dress Rehearsals of the Glyndebourne Festival Opera will also be announced later.

RE-ORGANISATION OF THE ADMINISTRATION

The University Council and its Finance and General Purposes Committee have recently been studying the administrative organisation of the University in the light of the greatly increased burdens which will fall on it in the near future.

We started like all other universities by having a single chief administrative officer in the person of the Registrar. It has of course always been in our minds that, judging by the experience of other universities, we should have to modify this type of administrative organisation as we approached a figure of 3,000. Until recently that target was set for the early 1970s. Now that it is due to be achieved so much sooner we have to expect to carry not only the administrative load of a university of that size but the additional load which will be the result of getting there so soon.

In the light of this, the Council, which has consulted closely with the senior members of the administrative and of the teaching staff, has decided upon a re-organisation of our administrative arrangements. The administrative staff at present organised under the single post of Registrar will in future be directed by two independent officers of similar status. These will be designated (a) the Registrar and Secretary, and (b) the Bursar. In general terms, the Registrar and Secretary will be responsible for academic administration, student and staff administration and welfare, public relations, and official publications. The Bursar will be responsible for the administration of finance, the building programme, and the maintenance services of the University.

The attached chart shows the new organisation in some detail. Some new posts have been created which will be filled as soon as practicable.

The new organisation seems logical and I hope appear reasonably clear to all the other members of the University, students and teachers, who are affected by it. It will inevitably have teething troubles, but I am sure it will shake down and that we shall find it a good instrument for the jobs that lie ahead.

LECTURES ON TRAGEDY

Two courses of lectures on Tragedy will be given this term in the small lecture theatre in the Physics Building. At 12.30 p.m. on Mondays Professor Delaio will lecture on the following selected texts:

27th April : PROMETHEUS BOUND
4th and 11th May : OEDIPUS THE KING
18th and 25th May : LE CID
1st and 8th June : ROSSEUCHOLM

At 2.15 p.m. on Fridays other members of faculty will lecture on the following topics:

24th April: THE CULTURAL BACKGROUND OF GREEK TRAGEDY by Mr. A.D. Nuttall
1st May : THE EVOLUTION AND STYLE OF GREEK TRAGEDY by Mr. A.D. Nuttall
8th May : THE MEANING OF ARISTOTLE'S POETICS by Mr. A.D. Nuttall
15th May : MIDDLETON - THE CHANGELING by Mr. L.D. Lerner
22nd May : RACING by Mr. P. France
29th May : STRINDELBERG by Dr. G. Salgado
5th June : CHEKHOV - THE THREE SISTERS AND UNCLE VANYA by Mrs. S. Oldfield
12th June : TRAGEDY IN AMERICA by Mr. R.P.C. Mutter

In the middle of May Professor Richmond Lattimore of Bryn Mawr College will lecture on Translating Greek Tragedy: the exact time and place will be announced on the notice-boards.

Lecturers will assume that their listeners have already read the works specified above. Where no play is particularly mentioned, lecturers will assume that students' reading has been guided by the Tragedy reading list.

AMERICAN LITERATURE: THE PURITANS TO HENRY JAMES

The following is a course of lectures to be given this term by Professor L.
Ziff of the University of California at Berkeley, Visiting Fulbright Professor:

Tuesday, 28th April: JAMES FENIMORE COOPER
Tuesday, 5th May : EDGAR ALLAN POE
Thursday, 7th May : RALPH WALDO EMERSON: "NATURE; "THE AMERICAN SCHOLAR"
AMERICAN LITERATURE: THE PURITANS TO HENRY JAMES (continued)

Tuesday, 12th May: RALPH WALDO EMERSON: "THE DIVINITY SCHOOL ADDRESS; 'TRANSCENDENTALISM'; 'EXPERIENCE'
Thursday, 14th May: HENRY DAVID THOREAU: 'WALDEN'
Tuesday, 19th May: NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE: 'THE SCARLET LETTER'
Thursday, 21st May: NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE
Tuesday, 26th May: HERMAN MELVILLE: 'MOBY DICK'
Thursday, 28th May: HERMAN MELVILLE
Tuesday, 2nd June: WALT WHITMAN: 'LEAVES OF GRASS'
Thursday, 4th June: WALT WHITMAN
Tuesday, 9th June: MARK TWAIN: 'HUCKLEBERRY FINN'
Thursday, 11th June: MARK TWAIN
Tuesday, 16th June: HENRY JAMES: 'THE AMBASSADORS'
Thursday, 18th June: HENRY JAMES

While the lectures will deal, in the main, with specific works, some attention will be paid to biography and literary and social history. Auditors are urged to read the works listed before the date on which they will be discussed because however intelligible these works may be without the support of the lectures the reverse is certainly not the case.

All these lectures will take place at 2.15 p.m. in Room 103 of the Physics Building.

UNION NEWS

By now everyone in the University should have received a letter from the President appealing for support of the John F. Kennedy Scholarship Fund. We are confident that this will get the support of the great majority, for it is the first opportunity for us to participate in any such scheme, one which is singularly appropriate for a student body and for all those connected with University education. May this serve as a reminder to any readers who want to contribute to the appeal but have not yet done so.

Rather more is now known of the programme for the New Universities Festival at Keele the weekend of 1st May. With as varied a 'cast' list as Sir Edward Boyle, Joan Littlewood, Johnny Dankworth, Christopher Logue and Shirley Ann Field, it should prove quite exciting. Our Theatre Group is performing a short five-minute Ionesco play 'Maid to Marry' and T.S. Eliot's 'Sweeney Agonistes'. York are performing 'The Sun Ekipped', a montage of songs and works about the French Revolution, and Norwich something called 'Age of Scandal'. York will provide dancing to modern Jazz, Sussex madrigals and a sextet, Keele music by Telemann and Quartz. Folk singing, poetry and jazz, politics, debating, discussions on sport, on publications and on film-making, architecture and education will fill up any gaps, and there will also be a Festival Ball. Just over eighty from Sussex will be going. The whole affair is sponsored by O ddams Press - and the press and television are very interested.

Our own Arts Festival is now taking shape. Brighton's lack of anything approaching adequate theatre facilities is hampering final details. Ian Small's production of 'Much Ado About Nothing' is in rehearsal, a musical 'Brighton Opera' is taking shape, Revue, Orchestral and Choral Societies are busy working - as are photographers and artists. All will take place in the final week of term: and it had better be fine because a Barbecue is planned in the vicinity of Russel's Clump and rain would extinguish the 'spit'. Probable high spot of the week should be the Summer Dance on Friday, 19th June - four bands, two dance floors, food and drink: all for 30/- a double ticket. This should really cap the year. Most of the dances this year have been, by general opinion, excellent: the Social Committee have promised something really exciting for 19th June.

Preparations for and participation in all this pleasure and culture must not overshadow the very important elections of Union Officers. The present bunch really must get some work done next year and let others exhaust themselves. During the first month we must elect: President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer. Watch out for details and hustings and polling, etc.

There is a rumour going around that Wine Press is going into print regularly as a newspaper, carrying as much information as opinion - and all stimulating we hope.

SUMMER TRAVEL PARTIES

Greece this Summer

Parties to Greece from the University are being organised this summer to attempt to take advantage of the substantial reductions that are available for student travel. The parties will be for the purposes of travel only, and, it is hoped will be available for single or return journeys.

At the moment there are plans for departures from London on 28th June and 5th July, and from Athens on 30th July and 17th September. It is also hoped that there will be another party from London on 17th August. The cost will be £10.10.0 single, £21.0.0 return, the former depending on confirmation from British Railways. This price includes reservations, but excludes meals and the cost of an overnight stop in Munich on the outward journey.

Those who put in provisional applications last term should by now have received further details. These are available from Bob Harvey, via N.U.S. pigeon-hole.

Anywhere else in Europe

The filing cabinet in the Societies' Room can offer most sorts of travel information from Metro plans of Paris to regulations for the importation of firearms into Yugoslavia. Full details of most student travel and accommodation facilities are to hand together with details of all-in student holidays. In fact, the literature is getting so plentiful that if there is anyone who would be willing to be co-opted to help with this work, his/her assistance would be very much appreciated.

Outside Europe

Letters seem to arrive very regularly from people trying to arrange expeditions of varyingly adventurous plans. If anyone has any high ideas on this, I may be able to provide contacts. For the moment...is anyone interested in going up the Nile by steamer this summer...?

CHAPLAINCY NOTES

UNIVERSITY CHAPLAINCY

The following arrangements have been made by the Chaplain for this term:

Tuesday, 26th April: 5.15 p.m. Service in the Music Room, with an address at 5.30 p.m. by Mr. H.R. Kedward.

Thursday, 7th May: 1.30 - 1.55 p.m. A Service for Ascension Day in the Music Room, conducted by the Chaplain.
UNIVERSITY CHAPLAINCY (continued)

Sunday, 10th May: 2.30 - 6.00 p.m., with an interval for tea. A short Conference in the Debating Chamber on Christian Faith and Modern Science, opened by Dr. W.A. Whitehouse (Pro-Vice-Chancellor and Reader in Divinity, University of Durham).

Tuesday, 12th May: 5.15 p.m. Service in the Music Room, with an address by Dr. Peter Henock.

Sunday, 17th May: 11.30 a.m. A Service for Whit Sunday in the Debating Chamber, conducted by the Chaplain.

ANGLICAN CHAPLAINCY

There will be a service of Holy Communion, with a short address, at 9.00 a.m. on Sundays during the Summer Term, at St. John's Church, Carlton Hill, Brighton. This is especially for members of the University and a light breakfast will be served afterwards at the Anglican Chaplaincy Centre, which is eight minutes walk from the Church.

The Anglican Chaplain would like to hear as soon as possible from anyone else who is considering Confirmation, so that a course of instruction can be arranged early in the term. He can be reached by letter to the Arts Building, or at the Anglican Chaplaincy Centre, 12 Hanover Crescent, Lewes Road, Brighton (telephone Brighton 682355).

On Sunday, 3rd May at 8.00 p.m. there will be a Coffee Party at 12 Hanover Crescent to meet a group of Anglican Clergy who are working in India, the West Indies and South Africa. There will be informal discussion, which it is hoped will not be confined to religious questions.

THE UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

This is an attempt to give a general account rather than a detailed architectural description of the plan for the chapel as it stands at present. I hope that a detailed description will be available later. The design of the building is unusual. The entrance will not be directly into the chapel but into an area which might variously be entitled a narthex, vestibule or ante-chapel. Opening out from this will be on the one side a series of rooms. The first will be a large circular room flanking the entrance, in which small meetings can be held. It will be followed by the Chaplain's room, four small rooms for the use of the various church groups and their chaplains, including one for the Jewish community, and a general vestry in which music and other things can be stored.

The entrance to the chapel proper will be on the other side. There will be glass doors flanked by moveable glass partitions, which can be thrown open to accommodate extra people in the ante-chapel. In shape the chapel will be a series of three semi-circular apses surrounding a rectangular central area, with, on the fourth side, an elaborate arrangement of deep narrow windows of varying length. These will contain stained glass of abstract design. Great importance is attached by the architect to these windows as a means of lighting and giving character to the building. There will be clerestory windows in the central square, and a large space in the apse behind the Table which runs up into a tower. This tower will be surmounted by a plain exterior cross, surrounded by a semi-circle of brick.
The arrangement of the church furniture is highly original. The Table will stand in a generous space at the heart of the building surrounded on all sides by pews, which will follow the curve of the walls. Behind it will be a free-standing cross. In front of the Table but at a lower level will be a reading desk designed to serve both as a pulpit and a lectern. This desk will be visible along a wide entrance aisle from the ante-chapel, so that it will be possible for anyone who wishes to do so to hear a speaker without entering the chapel. A small organ will be placed on the far side of the chapel from the entrance. The chapel will be built in the familiar brick and concrete, but the interior walls will be finished in white.

It will not be a large building. The normal seating will be for about three hundred, but with space for the insertion of extra chairs, and a sizeable number could be accommodated in the ante-chapel. It will be available for the use of all religious groups as well as for joint university-religious activities. It is also hoped that it will be found suitable for appropriate musical and dramatic performances.

The presence of a chapel in a university community is inevitably controversial in these days of divergent views and uncertainty about religious matters. Misgivings about the particular site chosen are better dealt with by others more competent than myself. For my own part, I am sure that architecturally the chapel building will be a great enrichment to the university scene. On the larger question of the place of a chapel in university life, it may help a little to clear the atmosphere of the discussion if, as Chaplain, I make these two points at the outset: The first is that those of us who will want to use the chapel will be scrupulous to respect the points of view of those who will not. The University has been generously offered and has accepted the gift of a chapel. We do not take this to imply that the University as such has become a Christian institution. We take it to mean only that it recognises the part Christian faith has in the life of many of its members and in the life of the general community. The other point is that those who use the chapel will be falling by their own standards if it does not help them to show more of that respect for truth and awareness of social responsibility which other members of the University, who may not share their faith but who are their colleagues and friends, also try to possess.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE UNIVERSITY
on the Occasion of its Approaching First Final Examinations

6th April, 1764.

Gentlemen:

The greatest Part of Mankind are naturally apt to be affirmative and dogmatical in their Opinions; and while they see Objects only on one Side, and have no Idea of any counter-balancing Arguments, they throw themselves precipitately Into the Principles, which they are inclin'd to; nor have they any Indulgence for those who entertain opposite Sentiments. To hesitate or balance perplexes their Understanding, checks their Passion, and suspends their Actions. They are, therefore, impatient till they get out of a State of Mind, which to them is so uneasy; and they think they can never remove themselves far enough from it, by the Violence of their Affirmations and the Obstinacy of their Belief. But could such dogmatical Reasoners become sensible of the strange Infirmities of Human Understanding, even in its most perfect State, and when most exact and cautious in its Determinations; such a Reflection would naturally inspire them with more Modesty and Reserve, and diminish their fond Opinion of themselves, and their Prejudice against Antagonists ... And if any of the Learned are inclin'd, from their natural Temper, to Haughtiness and Obstinacy, a small Tincture of Fyrrhonism may abate their Pride, by showing them, that the few Advantages, which they may have attain'd over their Fellows, are but inconsiderable, if compar'd with the universal Perplexity and Confusion, which is inherent in Human Nature. In general, there is a Degree of Doubt, and Caution, and Modesty, which, in all kinds of Scrutiny and Decision, ought for ever to accompany a just Reasoner.
AN OPEN LETTER TO THE UNIVERSITY (continued)

Your obedient servant,

David Hume
