This publication is intended for members of the University of Sussex.
Extracts from it should not be published without the Editors' permission.

While every effort will be made to ensure the accuracy of the information which the Editors pass on, readers will appreciate that this is a news-bulletin and not an official Gazette.

Correspondence etc. relating to the Bulletin should be addressed to Robert Jamieson, Essex House, Falmer.
INTRODUCTION

As stated in the June issue, the Registry as an interim measure accepted responsibility for the publication of the Bulletin during the summer term, 1966. The content of the previous publication with that title was then divided between a University Diary, published weekly, and a Bulletin covering the remaining material and appearing once or twice during the term.

The weekly University Diary consists of three types of information:-

(i) a diary of University events for the following week, to supplement the Union Diary published in Unionews;

(ii) a list of major forthcoming events for a period of more than one week ahead;

(iii) information or notices inserted at the request of individual sections of the University.

The Diary is circulated weekly on Mondays: the Registry deposits copies in each building, so that the Porters may circulate them to members of faculty and 1000 copies are given to the Union for general circulation as an attachment to Unionews. The Diary is compiled in the Registry by Miss Susan Rogers (room number 76 in Essex House, internal telephone number Essex 220) to whom material for inclusion, preferably type-written, should be sent not later than 10.00 a.m. on the Friday preceding the week for which inclusion is requested.

The Bulletin itself will therefore no longer contain the material described above and will not appear regularly on fixed dates. It will consist mainly of such articles as are received, plus additional items of information such as lists of visitors to the University, and will be edited for the term by Mr. Robert Jamieson (room number 94 in Essex House, internal telephone number Essex 216) for publication when sufficient material has accumulated.

The Registry has undertaken this work without additional resources being provided and has consequently no facilities for ensuring a thorough coverage of all events and information, but a general invitation is issued to members of the University to submit articles.

The question of whether or not to have a Bulletin next year and what type of publication it should be if we have one, is now being discussed and your ideas would be welcome.

CAR PARKING

Students wishing to park their cars on the University site next term should collect application forms from the Head Porter's desk in Palmer House during the last week of this term. The completed forms, together with the remittance (see page 7), must be returned to the Finance Office by 1st January, 1967.

C. Brummitt
Deputy Finance Officer.

The Institute of Development Studies

In the early months of its existence the Institute of Development Studies, established on the campus in January of this year, was concerned primarily with devising its programme and appointing related staff, but it is now becoming operational; for example the first two pilot courses will begin in the New Year. Pending the arrival of Mr. Dudley Seers, who is Director Designate, Mr. Paul Streiten has taken over as Acting Director from Mr. J.R. Symonds who has now taken up his work as a Fellow in International Organisations.

One aspect of its programme is research into development problems and three Visiting Fellows have already been appointed. They are Mr. D.J. Shaw who has just returned from the University of Khartoum and is working on agricultural economics in the Sudan with particular reference to the Gezira Scheme; Mr. H.E. Caustain after a distinguished career with the UN is doing research on the impact of technical assistance; and Mr. Hamza Ali Alavi whose project covers business enterprise and public policy in Pakistan. Mr. L.J. Joy, a Fellow in Agricultural Economics, has joined the Institute on a part-time basis and becomes full-time from April of next year.

From the outset the Institute has worked closely with the University and one of the first indications of this close co-operation is the joint appointment of Mr. M. Lipton as a Fellow in Development Economics in addition to his University appointment.

The Institute has appointed four Research Assistants, two in development economics, one in agricultural economics, and one in political science. Two of them have already been away collecting data to Algeria and Zambia and a third plans to be in Kenya next year.

Library users will have noticed that the task has begun of building up a collection of publications of governments and official bodies in developing countries, and those of national and international agencies working in the development field. The Institute’s Librarian, Miss U. Nottage joined the staff from L.S.E. in July. Of particular interest is an initiative by Mr. David Wall which has given the Institute depository library status for United Nations publications. The Library is buying back copies of UN material from 1946 on microcard to complete this collection.

Another feature of proposed activities is the programme of seminars for senior officials. The first, of one month’s duration under the direction of Mr. Streten, is on Aid and Trade followed by one covering the development of the Rural Sector directed by Mr. Joy. Studies will be conducted through seminars, lectures, syndicates, panel discussions and interrogations. Since the participants themselves have experience of working in planning offices and other departments in a wide variety of countries they will have a great deal of practical knowledge to impart not only to one another but also to the staff taking part in the various activities.

A programme of rather shorter seminars will shortly start bringing together civil servants, university staff and others to consider aspects of public policy.

Constructive discussion on its teaching and research functions took place at a Conference held from 18th - 22nd September at the Isle of Thorns. The seventy delegates who attended discussed broad issues of development policy, and issues which the Institute might take account of in the work programme. Later a selective record of the proceedings will be available.

The Institute is based in Lancaster House but expects to move to the Arts Building Stage II after Christmas. Further information about it may be obtained from the Secretary.

Elizabeth Thomson,
Administrative Assistant.
The Academic Board at its meeting on 15th June, 1963 agreed that the Arts/Science Committee should work out detailed proposals for the Arts/Science Scheme after 1967-68, based on the following points:

(a) all students should in future have an obligation to do some work of an arts/science character;

(b) this work should be tested or assessed and the results made available to the examiners at finals.

The Committee has therefore asked Schools of Studies to set up Working Parties, singly or in co-operation, to consider the nature of the work which they wish their students to undertake and to formulate detailed teaching arrangements, including book-lists, course details etc. Also, in the belief that it would be helpful to suggest some of the considerations which have come to be recognised as important in relation to this subject and which each Working Party might find useful in its deliberations, the Committee circulated a document to the meetings of the Schools of Studies on 23rd November, which included one example of a possible scheme with its rationale, so that it might be seen how these considerations can be taken into account.

The Working Parties have been asked to present their proposals to the first Schools of Studies meetings of the Spring Term 1967 so that recommendations may be forwarded to the Arts/Science Committee, which will in turn seek the ratification of the Academic Board and the Senate for the new Scheme. Anyone who wishes to put forward suggestions should do so to their School Working Party or to the Director of the Arts/Science Scheme, Mr. M.G. Brown, Room 129 in the Chemistry Building.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX B.ED. DEGREE

The Senate of the University has approved the proposals for the B.Ed. degree, to be examined for the first time in 1968. These proposals were submitted by the School of Education, which was set up in 1965 and which includes the following institutions: the School of Educational Studies of the University of Sussex, Bishop Otter College, Brighton College of Education, Brighton College of Art (teacher training department), Chelsea College of Physical Education, Eastbourne College of Education and Seaford College of Education.

The Sussex B.Ed. has a number of distinctive features. It is a four-year course and students will normally spend the whole of this period in their College. The Sussex B.Ed. is based on the assumption that the College will retain a large degree of individuality and independence throughout the course, though, in appropriate circumstances, Colleges may be in a position to help each other and the University hopes also to provide some tutorial and lecturing help.

It is proposed that all students shall automatically be registered for the B.Ed. on enrolment at the outset of their Certificate course. During the first three years the students will study the theory and practice of education, one or two academic subjects and a range of basic and curriculum subjects; in addition to their periods of teaching practice in a school.
Towards the end of their third year, students may apply for admission to the B.Ed. courses and their acceptance will depend on being selected at interview and on their performance in the Certificate course. Successful applicants will then proceed to their fourth year of studies following their study in their own College. This year, which has been the subject of extended discussion between the Colleges, the Boards of Study, and the University, will consist of further and deeper study of one academic subject and of education; and in addition, students will pursue a study normally examined by dissertation linking their academic subject and education. In this fourth year, students will mostly be taught in tutorials. The B.Ed. Examination at the end of the fourth year will enable students to reflect back upon the work they have done throughout the four years as a whole.

The following academic subjects will be available in the B.Ed. (though not in every College): Art, English, Geography, History, Home Economics, Languages, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, Religious Studies, Science, Social Studies. In some instances, a detailed syllabus for the B.Ed. is still subject to final discussion and revision.

The Sussex B.Ed. has been planned as a four-year continuous and integrated course of studies. For this reason it can only be taken by students who enrol in the constituent Colleges of the University School of Education for their Certificate course; and this means that students cannot be accepted on transfer from other Colleges nor can teachers already qualified be accepted simply for the fourth year.

The Working Party of University and College members under the Chairmanship of Professor C.C. Allen will continue in existence to consider amendments to courses put forward by the Boards of Study.

Professor R.B. Ford,
Dean of the School of Educational Studies.

THE COMBINED DEGREE AND NURSING TRAINING COURSE IN THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATIONAL STUDIES

Recent enquiries into the nursing profession have revealed that it may no longer be receiving sufficient recruits of the calibre that it requires and that there is a need for a course of professional training based on the Universities, which could produce potential leaders in the profession. It has therefore been proposed that the University of Sussex should inaugurate a course of training, consisting of a three year degree course followed by a two year professional course, at the end of which the students would emerge with an honours degree and State Registration as a nurse. Discussions have taken place within the University and with the South-East Regional Hospital Board, and the course was finally approved by the General Nursing Council on 21st July, and by the University Senate on 16th November, 1966. The course will initially be of an experimental nature, the first students being admitted in October, 1967. An undergraduate intake of about six is thought to be about the right number to make the course viable. The methods of evaluating such an experiment are at present being discussed.

The undergraduates concerned will be admitted to the University to read for an honours degree in Psychology or Sociology in the School of Educational Studies.
They will follow the same courses as other undergraduates in the School except that, in addition to their normal academic commitments, they will be required to undertake one month's practical work in a hospital during each of their long vacations.

When they have successfully completed their undergraduate course they will be attached to the professional courses which the School has already established for the postgraduate training of teachers and social workers. In addition to the courses which cover the needs of all three professions, the University will provide one seminar of one and a half hours per week over six terms specifically for the theory and practice of nursing.

The postgraduate course will last for two years and during the first five terms students will spend two days per week in the University and three days per week in hospitals. In the sixth term one day per week would be spent in the University and four days in hospitals. From the end of their last summer term of University study, the students will be engaged in field work until the end of the course in the final week in September. Work in the hospitals will include the nursing care of all age groups and tutorials, seminars and lectures will be given on nursing aspects of medicine, surgery and community care.

Leah J. Plumble,
Administrative Assistant.

CAR PARKING

The last issue of the Bulletin reproduced a paper by the Social Buildings and Activities Committee (as it then was) on "Transport and Parking" and also contained details of the Senate's discussion of that paper at its meeting on 25th May. It was further reported to the meeting of the Senate on 16th November that the new car parks were expected to be ready for use in the Spring Term 1967, and that charges would be levied in accordance with the following scale approved by the Finance and General Purposes Committee:-

GRADUATE ADMISSION IN ARTS AND SOCIAL STUDIES

The procedures for receiving and processing applications to read for higher degrees of the University in Arts and Social Studies have now been revised by the Arts Graduate Studies Committee.

All enquiries will be handled by the Office of the Graduate Division in Arts and Social Studies under the Director Professor Marcus Cunliffe and an Administrative Assistant (Mr. David Anderson-Evans).

Completed applications will be sent to Graduate Sub-division Chairmen in batches, beginning on 1st January. A date will be stipulated for the receipt of the decisions by the Office of Graduate Studies, and a close follow-up made on letters sent to candidates informing them of the results of their applications.

1st May will be the published closing date for receipt of applications though some leeway will be allowed up to 1st June.

Graduate Sub-division Chairmen away from the University in the summer will nominate a "summer-selector" to take over the duties of selecting candidates from applications still requiring a decision.

At the end of July the Office of Graduate Studies will conduct a final clearing operation, and in late September final decisions will be taken on those candidates remaining on the waiting-list.
The Chairmen of Graduate Sub-divisions appointed by the Academic Board are:

SMOKING

It was reported to the Senate on 16th November by the President of the Union that, at its meeting held on 25th October, the Union Council passed the following resolution by 15 votes to 13, with 3 abstentions:

'Council requests the University to allow cigarettes and tobacco to be sold on the University campus.'

The Senate agreed that the Social Policy Committee be asked to consider, in consultation with the University Health Service and other parties, all aspects of the above matter, including the delineation and enforcement of non-smoking areas, and present a paper to the Senate.

EXCHANGE CONTROL NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE UNIVERSITY WISHING TO SPEND PERIODS OF STUDY ABROAD

In the light of the recently imposed £50 allowance granted to tourists wishing to take currency out of the United Kingdom, members of the University may find useful the following information provided by the Bank of England.

Travel: The Exchange Control regulations do not apply to amounts paid in this country in sterling to travel agents, etc. to cover travel abroad. It is therefore advisable to pay for as much travel as possible in sterling and to make sure that return tickets are purchased.

Academic Year Abroad

Local Bank Managers have been given instructions to provide customers with the following remittances, subject to the production of satisfactory documents and certificates, giving proof of enrolment, fees, accommodation charges etc.

Enrolment and tuition fees: up to £700 per annum
Accommodation and board: up to £400 per annum
Books, personal and incidental expenses: up to £400 per annum

The production of the necessary documents giving proof of the genuine nature of the application may take some time. It is therefore advisable to consult the Bank Manager in good time.

Vacation Courses

These do not come under the regulations for an entire year abroad and applications for remittances should be made on "Form T" entitled "Application for Foreign Exchange Facilities for Travel outside the Scheduled Territories". This form is available from all Banks and should be submitted through the local branch to the Bank of England, together with a certificate stating that the course forms an essential part of the degree requirement.

Amounts granted are usually up to £5 per day, and since such applications will increase as the summer vacation approaches, applicants are advised to allow one month for the remittance to be granted.

The necessary certificate can be obtained from Mr. C.J. Watson in the Academic Office in Essex House.

Eleanor Milburn,
Administrative Assistant.

DAMAGE TO LAWNS

Once again, with the onset of adverse weather, considerable damage is being caused to the turf and landscaping around many of the University Buildings by persons taking short-cuts across the grass, thus causing unofficial paths to develop with disastrous effect on the grass.

Such damage to the surface leaves a scar which takes many months to eradicate and members of the University are therefore earnestly requested to refrain from taking such short cuts and thus contributing to this cumulative damage, and to avoid passing over the grass during wet weather or when the ground is 'soggy'.

This request is made in the interest of all, with a view to preserving to best advantage the scenic amenities of the University.

J.A. Thomas,
Estate Manager.
SCHOLARSHIPS FOR POSTGRADUATE WORK OVERSEAS

Details of scholarships and grants available for students wishing to undertake postgraduate work overseas can be obtained from the University Appointments Advisory Service.

Mr. A.J. Caston, the Appointments Officer, is willing to advise on the availability of such scholarships, and in some cases, will be able to provide the necessary application form.

BRITISH ACADEMY RESEARCH AWARDS

H.M. Government has placed at the disposal of the British Academy a fund for the subvention of research in the humanities (excluding the social sciences). Applications must be received not later than the 1st February and awards will be announced in May.

Amongst the headings under which application might properly be made are the following: study leave; vacation work; aid to the publicaion of research; the provision of mechanical aids; and specific research projects. In no circumstances will research specifically for a higher degree, or normally for research undertaken by recipients of State Studentships, be supported.

Further details and a copy of the conditions may be obtained from the Secretary, The British Academy, 6, Burlington Gardens, London W.I.
