UGC GRANT 1976-77

The University Grants Committee has told the University of Sussex that it will receive £7,578,000 as its block grant for 1976-77. This allocation follows the announcement by the Secretary of State for Education and Science that the total recurrent grant for universities would be £581m and would conform to the general system of cash limits being applied to Government expenditure.

From this total the UGC has held back some £35m which will be distributed when the Government's incomes policy for 1976-77 becomes known, and some estimate of the cost of prospective pay increases can be made. For the first time, therefore, the Government will not directly supplement university grants for increases in national academic salaries.

Compared with the grant for the current year, Sussex's grant for next year seems to have increased (in monetary if not in real terms) rather more than the national average.

The Planning Committee will now discuss the University's budget for 1976-77 at its meeting on April 28.

THE SEARCH FOR SOMEBWHERE TO LIVE

Most students now living on campus and in other University accommodation will be expected to move into non-University accommodation for the 1976/77 session. During this term students will begin to search for a suitable place to live from October.

The Accommodation Office keeps a Register of privately owned houses, flats, bedsitting rooms and private lodgings and will help students to find a suitable room or flat. However, they cannot guarantee to find addresses for all who wish to live in flats and houses, which are even more difficult to find since the 1974 Rent Act.

The Accommodation Office has written to all landlords on its Register during the Easter vacation asking them to telephone or write giving vacancies for 1976/77 as soon as they know them. Landlords can only do this when their present tenants let them know whether or not they will be remaining for the next session.

Landlords' replies are likely to come in gradually throughout the summer months and students looking for accommodation for October should call in to the Accommodation Office at intervals during the summer term and vacation.

Addresses will be passed on to students as information is received but students themselves must accept final responsibility for making arrangements with landlords. Any accommodation booking made must be confirmed to the landlord and to the Accommodation Office as well so that records can be kept up to date.

In practice, many students in flats on the Register pass on their addresses to friends for the next session and therefore these flats are already filled by the time the landlord contacts the Accommodation Office.

The Accommodation Office is situated in the Community Services offices on the first floor of the Refectory Extension, at the North End of the Refectory. Students hoping to move into a flat or bedsit for the first time should read the pamphlet "Living in a Flat" which is available in the Accommodation Office.

STAFF FOOTBALL CLUB WIN CUP FINAL
SUSSEX SUNDAY FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION INVITATION TROPHY FINAL.
University Staff 1 - Brighton Boys Club 0

At last the Staff have won a cup competition after five years of League success.

On the day the Staff deserved their victory against a team who started very much the favourites. Brighton Boys, on average a much younger team, play in Division Three of the Sunday League.

Conditions should have suited them better; the large pitch and fast surface could have caused the Staff some problems. However the Staff midfield and defence confined the Boys Club to long range shots which Les Langston, the Staff Goalkeeper, dealt with confidently.

The Staff were particularly dangerous on the left with penetrating crosses from Dave King causing the Boys Club defence serious problems. Tony Childs narrowly missed with a first time shot thundering against a post.

The wind and drying pitch made accurate passing difficult for both sides and the game developed into a midfield battle.

In the second half, with the scoresheet blank, the Staff began to pressurise the Brighton defence. In the 65th minute a promising attack developed on the right; the ball was half intercepted by a Boys Club full back but the ball fell for John Dunning to score in relative comfort. In the last 25 minutes the Boys Club increased the pressure on the Staff defence but only had one dangerous chance which Les Langston saved at full stretch.

Everyone in the Staff team played extremely well, showing extraordinary effort and determination in front of the very welcome University supporters.

SENATE

SEAS

The title of the School of Applied Sciences is to be changed to the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences from October 1976, Senate agreed at its meeting on March 17.

The existence of engineering disciplines at Sussex was insufficiently recognised externally, the Dean explained in supporting the change in the title.

Colleges Advisory Board

The proposal to introduce a B.A. degree programme, with the possibility of honours classification, in Combined Studies at Brighton College of Education, was discussed by Senate.

In approving the proposal Senate agreed that the title of the course should be B.A. in Combined Studies, with no reference to honours. A statement should, however, be included in the syllabus and in publicity material that the possibility of the award of honours exists subject to approval by the Senate for students who reach honours standard, and that details of assessment machinery to identify such students have still to be approved by the Senate.

Senate also agreed that this form of words should serve as a model for all similar courses.

Arrangements, satisfactory to Senate, are to be made for assessment procedures to identify honours standard students, including the appointment of external examiners.

Revised proposals for the course are to be submitted to Senate for final approval.

The Senate is to discuss at a future meeting, the basic principles underlying the University's involvement in validation of degrees.

Dr Alan White

The Pro-Vice-Chancellor reported with sorrow the death earlier in March of Dr. Alan White, a Senior Scientific Officer in the Unit of Invertebrate Chemistry and Physiology, who had been one of the University's research students in the mid-1960's.

Tuition Fees

The University is to inform the Joint Committee of Vice-Chancellors/University Grants Committee Working Party on Tuition Fees that it is completely opposed to the very large increases in fees for overseas students which, according to press reports, the Government is considering.

At its meeting on March 19, Council endorsed Planning Committee's decision to inform the Working Party of the University's opposition. It also endorsed a statement that the University remained strongly opposed to differential fees for home and overseas students.

However tuition fees are to be increased for 1976-77. Council approved Planning Committee's decision for an increase of 30 per cent from October 4, 1976, in line with the Government's recommendation of December 1975.

From October 1976 tuition fees will be as below:

PLANNING COMMITTEE

The B.Sc. Early Final Examinations in October 1976 are to be accommodated at the University, rather than the Brighton Boys' Club, Planning Committee agreed at its meeting on March 10.

The Old Refectory, its balcony and the present Senior Common Room will be used on the Monday and Tuesday of the first week of term. The Old Refectory will be used on the Friday morning and the Sussex House Common Room all day Friday.

If, on closer scrutiny, practical difficulties appear to be too great, the Sportcentre will be used instead on the Monday and Tuesday and other rooms on the Friday.

Either alternative requires some candidates to sit three papers in two days, and a 'no smoking' rule to apply.
CONFERENCE TO MARK THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE GENERAL STRIKE

A conference to mark the 50th anniversary of the General Strike is to be held at the University of Sussex this coming weekend, from Friday, April 23, to Sunday, April 25.

Peter Cresswell, Conference Co-ordinator, describes below the background to the conference, which is organised by the Trades Union Group, University of Sussex Union.

In May 1926, Britain’s first and only General Strike precipitated the most serious defeat the British working class had suffered. The strikers joined a struggle started by the example set by the miners. After nine days, in which the strike had increased in size and militancy, it was called off by the Trades Union Congress which had been secreting away a huge amount of money. Despite this, the miners carried on alone until they were driven by starvation and ostracism to concede defeat in November 1926.

The strike had been stage managed by the government for the employers. The TUC had sold out to the employers in the “national interest”. Collaboration between labour leaders and government took on a new and firm basis, but for nine days the working class had shown an ability to organise in its own defence, despite the imprisonment at the commencement of the strike of the leaders and activists in the fledgling Labour Party and amongst the labour movement generally.

The defeat of 1926 has inhibited and obstructed the working class movement ever since. The slogan of the time “Never Again” reverberates through the 20’s to today.

What positive lessons are to be learnt from the General Strike and how in the light of this should the working class movement progress? These are some of the questions which will be considered by delegates to the conference this coming weekend.

The conference is organised by the Trades Union Group, a Students’ Union society here at Sussex, and is supported by our local trades council, Brighton, Hove & District Trades Council, the Sussex County Association of Trades Councils and the National Museum of Labour History.

The conference is centred on eleven workshops (and private applicants are also welcome) will be able to choose both a morning and afternoon workshop from a wide range of topics.

Idris Cox, a miner in the 20’s in South Wales and later a communist organiser, will talk on “The Miners” and their unmatched solidarity and purpose.

SICKNESS BENEFIT

The ‘flu epidemic last term highlighted the fact that many members of staff, and faculty in particular, are unaware that the University’s regulations on sick pay oblige them to produce medical certificates if absent through illness.

If you are away for more than three days and fail to produce a certificate, the period of absence is treated as unpaid leave and the next month’s salary payment will be adjusted accordingly.

If a certificate is produced, the University deducts from pay only the amount of benefit entitlement under the state scheme. Since the benefit itself is tax-free the staff member stands to gain financially by forwarding certificates promptly to the Establishment Office.

Two points about the certificate itself. Do not delay submitting it to the Establishment Office or your entitlement to benefits may be lost, as several staff members have found to their cost. Make sure you fill in the certificate properly, including where applicable a claim for a non-working wife and children.

Finally, let the Establishment Office have a sight of Forms BS12 & BF168 which the DHSS send you. These show the amount of benefits to which you are entitled and by making the Establishment Office aware of the exact amounts involved you will ensure that the correct deduction is made from your pay packet.
